Thursday, November 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Special guest, Cheryl MacDonald, researcher, writer and speaker presents
Gunboats on the Great Lakes

HMG Britomart

When the Fenians invaded Canada in 1866, a number of gunboats were pressed into service, some for just a few days, some for more than two years. Drawing on ships' logs, naval records and contemporary newspaper reports, Cheryl traces the social history of the gunboats and their crews, offering a fascinating glimpse into Canadian life at the dawn of Confederation.
